Women's Football Overview

Women's football is now firmly entrenched in the fabric of the Western Bulldogs Football Club. In its inaugural season, the Club attracted 1200 AFLW members and directed over $300,000 in member donations to the development of the women's program. All AFLW members are motivated by a desire to empower women and to see women excel in sport.

The phenomenal success of AFLW can be traced to its wide public appeal: with more than 5 million TV views in 2017 and a 50:50 male/female audience share, the women's national league has captured the attention of the public in unprecedented ways. More than one fifth of Australians describe themselves as "avid" consumers of the sport.

Across the season, an incredible 1,989,911 viewers tuned in to watch Western Bulldogs AFLW games on TV, and 32,500 patrons passed through the gates of VU Whitten Oval to watch their new sporting heroes live out their dreams.
